The
1929 CHINOOK

Montana State Normal College

Foreword

We offer to you this Chinook with the hope that we have attained to some degree the goal toward which we have striven.

We have tried to express those ideals which you have upheld faithfully during your sojourn here. We have tried to preserve the spirit of the traditions which you have respected and supported. We have tried, too, to embody those associations which set this school year apart from any preceding or future year.

If this book helps you to relive the school year 1928-1929, we feel that our efforts have not been made in vain.

Dedication

We dedicate the 1929 Chinook to the Honorable Frank Eliel of Dillon, Member of the State Board of Education. As a member of the Legislature, of State Boards and Committees, as a public-spirited citizen, Mr. Eliel has been and is a loyal friend of the Normal College and its students.

Chancellor's Message

The students, alumni and friends of the State Normal College of Montana are exceedingly fortunate in the inheritance of the name "Chinook" which was given to their Normal College annual. The name suggests the warm, foehnlike wind that removes quickly and quietly the frost and the snow.

I extend to the students and to the alumni of Montana State Normal College my warm and sincere good wishes and my hope that each and every one of you may feel that your excellence has been augmented and your intelligence has been increased as a result of the training during the years spent in your Alma Mater.

Cordially yours,

MELVIN A. BRANNON,
Chancellor.

1929

President's Message

The Chinook book looks good—too good to do without. I took off a day not long ago to look over the nine Chinooks which I know best. They are a gallery full of the finest associates—students and faculty—one ever has the good fortune to know. The Class of 1929 adds many new faces to that hall of Normal College fame which means so much in the today and tomorrow of your life and mine. May the years bring realization of fondest and largest hopes to the classes of 1929 and 1930 who have made this worthy Chinook book which looks too good to do without.

SHELDON E. DAVIS.

Dean's Message

Always in the history of a nation or an individual there is a golden age. Never is it the present. Always it is in the past, when time has dimmed the clear outlines of reality.

So, as now for the theme of this book, you scan colonial days for glamorous deeds and graces, later, when you have reached maturity, will you inevitably recall your college life as "the good old days."

May your dreams be realized, your hopes reach fruition.

ANGELINE SMITH.

Thy

tow-ers stretch-ing up-ward Guide us on our way; Thy green lawns rol-ling out-ward Hold us thru-out the day. Each memory brings a thrill Of gold-en days up-on the hill. In Mon-tan-a's fair-est val-ley, where our hearts must al-ways

Nor-mal col-lege, here's to

CHINOOK

you, For to you we'll all be true tho we're far a-way at work or play we shall keep our col-ors fly-ing still for you. So on-ward thru the years let's go, And no one dares to tell us no, for we're bring-ing to fame that dear old name —
 Nor-mal col-lege, here's to you.

The College by Moonlight

*High in the sky the Moon,
Hanging there;
Waiting—Waiting;
Waiting for the dawn to shatter the silence of the night.*

*Silent—Majestic;
Touching the earth with silvery fingers;
Guiding the student homeward on his way;
Queen o' the Night—hanging there—
Waiting—Waiting.*

*The towers of old Main Hall
Thrust their sharp spires into
The shimmering orb—
Silhouetted against the sky;
Waiting and pointing to that new day
For those who create—and plan—and dream—
The Teacher.*

*The College—Youth—the Moon
All waiting and dreaming
For the dawn of the morrow.
Memories of Our Yesterdays
And all the years to come
Are moulded into that crystalline picture of unforgotten years.*

*Forgotten Faces—Times—and Places?
No!
For how can scenes like these be forgotten so?*

—Hugh D. Mosier.

SENIORS

Seniors

Keeping up with the spirit of initiative and prompt response for which the Seniors of 1929 were commended as Juniors, they elected officers in the second week of the fall quarter. Responsibilities were accepted readily and Senior activities were given an early start by the immediate election of Chinook staff and the Booster Club. The efficiency displayed throughout the year has given the Seniors the leading role in campus activities.

Juniors

In the early part of September, 1928, the Junior Class announced its existence as an organization. Throughout the year the class has been exceptionally active and progressive. Much talent and ability have been contributed to stunts, programs, and athletic activities. If it continues its work next year with equal ability and enthusiasm, great success awaits the class of '30.

ACTIVITIES

The House Council

LILLIAN RALPH	President
CECIL KERNS	Vice President "New"
MARY WILLIAMS	Vice President "Middle"
VIOLET VON DER VOR	Vice President "Old"

The House Council is the name given to the executive body of the Residence Halls. Two girls are elected from each floor in each dormitory as representatives. The Council meets to plan the social calendar of the year and to discuss the special problems of the girls who live in the Residence Halls. This year many parties and social affairs, in which all of the girls joined in having good times, were held. The most prominent affair was the Co-Ed Prom, given February 2.

This is the one and only governing body in the Residence Halls. It has succeeded not only in solving the special problems of the three dormitories, but also in providing social activities for the men and women of the college.

Student Activity Fund Committee

The student activity fund is made up of a two-dollar fee paid quarterly by each student, who is then entitled to admission to all college entertainments and to the quarter's issues of The Montanomal. Three faculty members appointed by President Davis, and three representatives from each class, are appointed to budget this money.

This year the committee consisted of: Professor McBain, chairman; Miss Russell, Miss Smith, faculty representatives; John Donaldson, Hugh Mosier, Earl Watts, representatives of the Senior class; Maxine Andrews, June Emerson, Joe Ryburn, representatives of the Junior class.

The Chinook

The Chinook staff members were elected at the beginning of the fall quarter, and the associate members at the next meeting.

The art contest, which proved to be extremely popular, resulted in the election of Sigryd Bjorklund as art editor and of Virginia Laughlin as assistant.

Although no position on the staff was offered as a reward, the literary contest conducted later in the year also called forth a considerable display of talent. Of the material submitted, "The College by Moonlight," a poem by Hugh D. Mosier, was judged most worthy of being printed in the Chinook.

"Order your Chinook now" has been the annual slogan of every staff since 1903, when the first annual was published. This year two drives for the sale of Chinooks were held, both of which were quite successful.

Booster Club

An organization whose membership includes all students at Montana State Normal College is the Booster Club, with sponsorship of the traditional Carnival, or Vaudeville, as it was called this year, as its prime purpose. Booster Club officers were elected at the time Chinook staff members were chosen, in September, 1928.

The Booster Club Vaudeville

The Booster Club Vaudeville, February 23, drew the largest crowd of the year. The entertainment consisted of nine stunts and the crowning of the queen. Six organizations, the Senior class, the Junior class, and the training school faculty each contributed a stunt. An unofficial curtain raiser was provided by a group of instructors and members of the office staff when they swept down the aisle in costumes of the nineties.

Between the first and second acts, the audience voted for the queen. Since this was the last chance for voting, the excitement became intense. In due time the result was known, and Nelle Blair of Dillon ascended the stage to the throne.

The "M" Club stunt, "A Night in Edinborough," was judged the best by vote of the audience. It consisted of singing by Almer Halverson, who impersonated Harry Lauder, and Scotch repartee between him and Alexander MacDonald.

Chanticleer members, dressed as newsboys, sold copies of the Vaudeville Slap, the scandal sheet which they prepared and had printed as their stunt. "All the dirt on the campus," disclosed in deftly-written articles and features, kept the audience laughing until time for the first curtain.

"M" Club stunt was awarded first place
Vaudeville Night, Feb. 23, 1929.

"A NIGHT IN EDINBOROUGH"

The program of the stunts was as follows:

Chanticleer Club

The newest, but one of the most active organizations on the campus, is the Chanticleers, organized in 1927. You'll hear them crowing the most up-to-date news on the campus.

The purpose of this club is to promote an interest in journalism and to aid in the publication of The Montanomal, the students' paper. It also has held several memorable social functions.

Montanomal

A students' paper of news, features, bits of humor, and side lights on college life is The Montanomal. The first issue appeared January 6, 1923, and since then several important changes and improvements have been made.

The Montanomal this year is under the supervision of President Davis, faculty adviser and instructor in journalism. A two-credit course now offered in journalism has drawn considerable talent in the writing of newspaper articles.

This paper is published weekly. One of its main features this year was a special issue dedicated to Charter Day, or the birthday of our Normal College, February 23, 1893.

The Normal College Index

The Normal College Index is the professional teachers' publication of the Normal College. It is under the direction of President Davis, faculty editor.

The Index has for its motto: "Help Teachers Work." It has, therefore, treated certain professional subjects in each issue. Index articles are written by members of the faculty, alumni, and students of the journalism class.

The Index is published monthly and is mailed to every grade school teacher in Montana. Each student also receives The Index every month.

The question upheld by the Normal College debate teams this year was: "Resolved, That a substitute for trial by jury should be adopted."

The debate season was opened in March when the negative team, Unda Peterson and Mary Dougherty, met the sophomore women's team of the State College at Bozeman and the School of Mines at Butte. In April, the affirmative team debated with the Intermountain Union College at Helena and the Eastern Montana Normal School at Billings.

Debate letters were awarded the members of the two teams. Much credit is due to Mr. R. E. Albright who has coached the Normal College teams successfully for the past four years.

The Gargoyles, the dramatic club of the Montana State Normal College, was organized in 1922 for the purpose of stimulating and furthering dramatic activities. It is divided into three departments: acting, stage, and business. All work connected with productions is carried on by members. Students wishing to become Gargoyles are given tryouts under the direction of a tryout committee. Meetings and laboratory plays are held in the Gargoyle club room which is at the disposal of members at all times.

The Order of the Jeweled Mask, an honorary society within the club, chooses its members from Gargoyles who have distinguished themselves by outstanding dramatic work. A jeweled Gargoyle pin is awarded to any member so honored. Virginia Laughlin, Phoebe Parslow, and Charles Davis have attained membership during the past year.

The Young Women's Christian Association has been one of the most active organizations of the Normal College this year. Its aim is to promote a closer relationship among the women of the college, and its membership is open to all college women.

During the year bimonthly meetings were held at which topics of interest were discussed. The club was honored in having three members of the faculty give most interesting talks upon special occasions. Miss Ragon gave a resume of her trip to Europe, Miss Russell gave a talk on "Books," and Professor Clark talked on "Credo." Miss Seeber, the National Secretary, visited the association in the fall quarter.

Among the various activities of the year was a "Shipwreck Party," given in the recreation hall. A novel act was given at the Vaudeville. The most outstanding activity was the presentation of the beautiful and well-known Biblical play, The Other Wise Man.

The Kappa Zeta Nu, a sorority whose purpose is to further college spirit through social and intellectual channels and to make stronger the ties of friendship, was organized, by consent of the college faculty, in the year 1905. Since then this society has grown steadily until it now holds a prominent place among the extra-curricular activities.

New members are admitted at the end of the fall quarter and at the beginning of the spring quarter. A candidate must have completed two successful, successive quarters at M. S. N. C. before she can be pledged. In the fall and in the spring the pledges are given a formal dance. These are the loveliest social events of the year.

This year the sorority gave A Modernistic Doll Shop as its act on Hallowe'en Stunt Night, and Grotesquerie on Vaudeville Night.

One of the most outstanding organizations on the campus, noted for its unexcelled enthusiasm and progressiveness, is the Women's Athletic Association. It takes pride in being the only national organization on the campus, this honor having been achieved in 1926. The W. A. A. endeavors to create interest in women's athletics.

Each student aspiring to membership must earn one hundred points, only ninety of which may be made by hiking. Additional points may be earned through other W. A. A. activities, one hundred points being given for a place on a first team and fifty points for that on a second team. A candidate also must have successfully completed one quarter's work at M. S. N. C. A felt monogram is awarded when five hundred points have been earned, two hundred of which are team points. A chenille "M" is given when eight hundred points are earned, five hundred of which are team points. Class numerals are also awarded by making a Varsity team.

The W. A. A. Mixer, the initiations, the Christmas party, the playlet in convocation, and the banquet were activities of the year.

The "M" Club, an organization of four years' standing, has realized marked success this year. Its objectives are to promote athletics and to encourage school spirit. The revision of the club's constitution has brought about new and definite requirements for letters and numerals. Proceeds from "M" Club dances have gone to buy sweaters for the members. A basketball tournament, won by the Seniors, was sponsored by the club at the beginning of the season. Orange and black caps, sold by letter men, made their first appearance at the Mount St. Charles game. With the co-operation of the W. A. A., the "M" Club greatly stimulated attendance at games.

The membership of the local alumni association of the Montana State Normal College totals twenty-eight. A second chapter of the association is being formed by graduates in and about Red Lodge.

The regular meetings of the Dillon association are held the first Monday of every month, and it is at these that the true spirit of the alumni manifests itself. Both social and business sessions are held at this time.

The association is justly proud of its Student Loan Fund which totals eight hundred dollars. This fund owes its growth to dues, to life memberships, and to yearly donations of one dollar each by the members of the association.

ATHLETICS

Football

Montana State Normal College entered upon its fifth year of intercollegiate football with prospects of the strongest team it had yet put in the field, in spite of the fact that only two lettermen, Hugh Mosier and Earl Watts, remained from last year. Out of the twenty-two men that reported for football, only two linemen had ever played. In the backfield we were more fortunate, inasmuch as we had four experienced men.

The pivots for our line were Somers Barnard and Alex MacDonald, the latter of whom also played guard. Ably assisting the center were Frank Benbrooks and Fred Crouse. Truman Berry and Hughlun Cole worked efficiently at tackles, and with the aid of the twin ends, Morris and Norris Cole, proved formidable to any line play. The backfield unit was built around Wilford Poppie, Earl Watts and Hugh Mosier playing alternately at quarterback and halfback. Almer Halverson, Kenneth Kephart, and Kenneth Kins worked at half also. Arthur Desonia served the entire season as manager.

Other men who deserve special mention are William Anderson, Roy Bass, Harry Brost, Karl Christofferson, Joe Lucier, Russell Sommers, Leonard Nelson and "Chuck" Davis.

Moe

Coach Moe's first problem was to build a football machine out of green timber. In order to give his men an opportunity to see how football was really played, he accepted a challenge from Butte Central High School. The Bulldogs, who had only two previous scrimmages, were easily outwitted and outplayed by the shift Central team which ran up a score of 43 to 0 the first half. Then the Normal players found themselves and tore the Central offense to pieces. The Bulldogs, although unable to score, carried the ball down the field only to lose the ball on fumbles, because of their excitement when they neared the goal line.

The next game was with the Southern Branch of the University of Idaho. The team left Thursday, October 4th, for Pocatello. The bus was so crowded that everyone was at the point of exhaustion by a late hour of the night when the team reached Pocatello. The weakened condition of the team showed against the fresher and heavier Tigers. The score of 58 to 0 does not tell all of the game. Halverson and Mosier completed several long and short passes, and Poppie was a consistent gainer for the Normal. The Bulldog line was unable to check the onslaught of the Tigers, most of the opponents' yardage coming from line bucks and off-tackle plays.

On October 19, the Bulldogs, thoroughly refreshed from their long rest, determined to carry into camp the Bobkittens' pelt. The Bulldogs started the game at a disadvantage, since they had to face a wind which was almost a gale, and which was continually kicking up dust storms. The Normal team received the ball on their five-yard line. Almost on their own line the Bulldogs were forced to punt. Against such a gale the ball carried only ten yards. The Kittens were in a position to score and made a touchdown. A try for the extra point succeeded. The wind slowly died, and the rest of the game was the Bulldogs' from beginning to end. Early in the third quarter Hughlun Cole intercepted a pass and, assisted by Norris Cole and Chuck Davis, ran 80 yards for a touchdown. Poppie tore through tackle for the extra point. Under the new ruling the Bulldogs won the game on yardage. The Normal yardage was 197 against 141 for the Kittens.

Watts

In a sea of mud the Intermountain Panthers won M. S. N. C.'s first Homecoming game November 3. The Bulldogs, displaying better groundwork on both the offensive and defensive, gained eight more yards from scrimmage than did the Panthers. Intermountain opened an aerial attack, and the game became more spectacular and open. Poppie intercepted a pass and ran 28 yards for the Bulldogs' first touchdown. A pass from Mosier to N. Cole annexed another point. Intermountain tallied again on passes, and then Nelson intercepted a pass and crossed the goal for the Normal's second touchdown. In the third quarter neither team scored, even though aerial attacks brought both teams within scoring distance. The fourth quarter saw both teams resort to punting. The final score was 29 to 13.

Although the Bulldogs fought their way through the season with only one victory, and that on yardage, we must still give them due credit for the manner in which they played the game, for their never complaining against bad breaks, or playing the grandstand. Sacrifice and teamwork were outstanding points of pride in our team. Every game was brightened by flashes of brilliant teamwork and individual starrng. The prospect of the 1929 football team is even better than that of this year, for only six men will be lost through graduation.

Basketball

Having bade farewell to football in the Homecoming game, the athletes of the college turned to basketball before the fall quarter was finished. The "M" Club tournament, in which class teams were matched in two games, may properly be said to have started off the basketball season. The Senior team defeated the Junior team in both games.

The Twin Bridges High School team met the Normal College here, December 8, in a practice game which was one-sided from the beginning. Coach Moe gave every man who had turned out for basketball a chance to play. The final score read: Normal, 59; Twin Bridges, 18.

Since the coach was unable to schedule a collegiate game satisfactorily before the holidays, he arranged to play the Butte Exchange Club a game on December 15. The game was fast and in doubt until the very last. Robinson and Johnson, all-state forward and center, respectively, kept piling up baskets for the visitors, while the Lang-Cole combination starred for M. S. N. C. The final score stood 48 to 41 in favor of the Bulldogs.

the Normal College lose their first intercollegiate game, January 8, to the fast St. Charles quintet. The game was fast and exciting but packed with many slips. Lang started the scoring with a couple of baskets; but Sweeve of Mount St. Charles came back in return, and the Saints soon led the Bulldogs. During the second half our fellows found their pace and led the scoring until the last five minutes. Then substitutions were forced, and the team seemed unable to pick up speed again. St. Charles, taking advantage of the situation, piled in baskets from everywhere, and won by a 47-23 score.

On January 23 the Brigham Young University Cougars, on a triumphant march from Utah, piled up a score of 77 to 25 in a spectacular game with the Normal College. Norris

Moe

Cole, suffering at the time from a sprained ankle, was unable to play. The team proved unable to cope against the larger, heavier team from Utah.

The Bulldogs played their next game January 28 at Pocatello, Idaho. The Tigers of the University of Idaho, Southern Branch, ran up a score of 48 to 14 against our men. With Norris Cole out and Morris Cole limping from a sore knee, the team was unable to do its best. Benbrooks and Kay Lang split honors in this game.

The Bulldogs, after a fierce battle, defeated the Panthers of Intermountain College by a score of 42 to 38. The game, played February 1, was fast from the start, and the Normal offense worked to perfection. The second team started the game and played almost a half on even terms with the visitors. Then the first team went in and made the score 24 to 16. During the second half the Panthers staged a comeback as only a fighting team can and kept the Bulldogs hustling to retain their lead. The second team finished the game.

The Eastern Montana Normal School team was defeated here February 9, by a score of 66 to 12. The game, which was slow and uninteresting, was filled with fumbles on both sides.

On February 14 the Bulldogs lost a hard-fought game to the Butte School of Mines. The teachers could not break the Mines team's defense, because of the guarding of Matlock. The Cole-Lang combination lacked fire and pep. The game was fast and full of excitement, but the Ore Diggers held a two-point lead through most of the game. Morris Cole was replaced by Pasley early in the game. Lang and Farrell were stars in this game.

It was a fighting team of Bulldogs that met for the second time the University of Idaho, Southern Branch, on February 22, and won the most exciting and the fastest game of the season by a score of 53 to 44. The College mascot, "Old Rip," adorned in an orange shirt and black trunks, made his first appearance at this game.

Thursday, February 28, the team left for a three-game trip to Butte and Helena. That evening they again played the State School of Mines at Butte. The game was fast. Both teams shot well and covered well; but Matlock, Mines guard, proved a nemesis. The final score was: Mines, 38; Normal, 29.

Friday, March 1, the squad lost a hard-fought game to Intermountain. Poor eyes for the basket nullified the furious pace set by the Normal team. The final score stood 52 to 27 in favor of the Panthers.

The team lost again, Saturday, March 2, this time to St. Charles. Our men proved unable to keep the heavier, more experienced team in check. The score was: Mount St. Charles, 54; Normal College, 38.

The 1928-1929 basketball season brought forth the strongest team in the history of the College. Although three of the members of the first team are of the May graduating class, prospects are favorable for a good team next year.

Senior Hockey Team

Hockey

Hockey, a comparatively new sport, was organized in 1927. The interest shown in it is growing each year, and it is becoming one of the important branches of women's athletics at Montana State Normal College. Before the opening tournament the W. A. A. bought enough red jackets for one team. The Seniors were given the privilege of wearing them the first game. The tradition is that the winning team be given the honor in the next game. The Seniors managed to keep the jackets during the entire season. Also, new balls and sticks were purchased.

The Seniors first defeated the Juniors 3-1 in a very interesting game. The Juniors, who were handicapped somewhat by the flu, rallied for the second game with all their fighting spirit. The result was a tie during the first half, 1-1, but the Seniors, by gaining one more point in the second half, became the champions in the inter-class hockey tournament.

Moderate Sports

Moderate Sports were introduced into Montana State Normal College last year. The games that were played were: German bat ball, Philadelphia kick ball, captain ball, horseshoes, and hand ball. An elimination tournament was held for horseshoes, Kathryn Sprunger and Norma Erickson being the winners. Teams were chosen for the other games. Twenty-five W. A. A. points were given each player.

Basketball

Basketball for women during the 1929 season was one of the most colorful and exciting sports of the year, as was proved by the large number of girls who came out for it. As usual, an inter-dormitory tournament was held, "Old" winning first place and "Middle" second. Class teams were chosen from the outstanding players in the dormitory games. The second inter-class game was played as a preliminary to the boys' game with the University of Southern Idaho.

In the two inter-class games the Juniors were easily victorious because of their superior playing.

The weather was exceptional throughout the entire season.

Swimming Team

Swimming

Instead of the usual swimming tournament which is held in the Spring quarter, a swimming carnival took its place last year. Many Juniors and Seniors participated in the meet. Those outstanding were Emily Wilcomb, who won the meet by earning seventeen points, and Maryon Kierstead, who won second place with fifteen points. Each event was counted a certain number of points.

Tennis

Tennis, although new to many students, created a great amount of interest last spring quarter. In the class elimination tournament Kathryn Sprunger won for the Juniors and Ruth Bergquist for the Seniors. The Junior and Senior singles was a very evenly matched game; Ruth Bergquist easily won the first set but had a hard fight in the second set, the score being 7-5. She also won the championship for her class and college the year before.

For these events W. A. A. points were given. The four contestants playing in the finals were considered the two first teams and received one hundred points. Those who played in the semi-finals constituted the second team and received fifty points.

SOCIETY

Nelle Blair

Vaudeville Queen

The election and crowning of a queen is a most interesting feature of the Booster Club Vaudeville. Candidates for election this year were: Nelle Blair, Winifred Derry, Veronica Harrington, and Virginia Walden.

Excitement became very intense as the stunts drew to a close, for the final results of the election would then be known. The crowning of the queen, Nelle Blair of Dillon, was the grand finale of the evening's program. The queen, with her attendants, ascended the throne amid the applause of a well-pleased audience.

Gargoyle Initiations

The scene of many delightful entertainments was again selected for a Gargoyle banquet. On the evening of November 25, cars whisked thirty-four club members and pledges to the Country Inn, northeast of town. After a delicious dinner, the club's honorary member, Miss Carson, presided as toastmistress. The theme of the program was the explanation of the Gargoyle symbol, the Mask. After the toasts, the fifteen pledges went through the impressive formal initiation ceremony.

On the evening of the presidential inauguration, March 4, the Gargoyles were assembled for a second time at the Country Inn. Nine pledges took the solemn oath of membership. Then the beautiful rites of the initiation to the Jeweled Mask admitted Phoebe Parslow, Virginia Laughlin, and Charles Davis to that exclusive order. A refreshing buffet supper made a fitting conclusion to a most memorable evening for the Gargoyles.

Chanticleer Parties

The Chanticleer Club has had a number of social activities during the past school year. These began with autumn quarter initiation services and a party at the home of Dr. Davis in November. Just before the holidays the members enjoyed a Christmas party given at the Reamy home. In February initiation was held, followed by a banquet at the Andrus hotel. Professor Clark acted as toastmaster, and the pledges presented a program of music. The members of the club were entertained at a fireside at the home of Professor Clark immediately following the business meeting, March 1. During the spring quarter another banquet was given for the new initiates, and shortly before commencement the members enjoyed their last social gathering, which was in the form of a picnic.

Annual Reception

The annual reception was held Friday evening, September 14, at the residence halls. After the new students had been presented to the faculty in the parlors, all went to the recreation hall. A most interesting program was presented; it consisted of a piano selection by Mr. McFadden, a very interesting talk on "Foreigners" by President Davis, and a violin solo by Violet von der Vor with Blanche Fousek as accompanist. Following the program, the guests danced. This year's reception had an unusually large attendance.

W. A. A. Mixer

To arouse the enthusiasm of the new students in the W. A. A. as well as to promote social activity, the association held a Mixer in the recreation hall. The guests came dressed ready for various athletic games. Group relays were arranged, and prizes awarded to the group having the most points. Besides games, the girls enjoyed an evening of dancing. Refreshments consisted of apples and Eskimo pies. Many left the Mixer with the resolution to work toward membership in the W. A. A.

Kappa Zeta Nu Dance

Kappa Zeta Nu entertained its pledges of the fall quarter with a formal dance in the recreation hall, November 16, 1928. Rosemary King, president, led the grand march. Miniature flash lights had been provided as favors for the men. Punch was served in the sun parlor. Good music was furnished by a student orchestra.

A similar formal was given in honor of the pledges of the spring quarter. The Kappa Zeta Nu dances were without doubt among the year's most enjoyable parties.

"M" Club Dance

During the year the "M" Club sponsored two well-attended dances. The first was the Homecoming dance. The members of the football team of Intermountain Union College were our guests. The college orchestra provided the music for the evening.

The second "M" Club dance was given February 1, after the Panther and Bulldog basketball game. By a coincidence, the Intermountain players were again our guests. For this occasion large orange M's were hung from each window. Punch was served in the sun parlor. A very large crowd enjoyed the evening.

Y. W. C. A. Shipwreck Party

On Saturday night, October 13, 1928, the good ship "Y. W. C. A." was wrecked near the "Island of M. S. N. C." After some exploration and with the consent of the natives, the voyagers settled in a corner of this island known as the "Rec Hall." The gay costumes of the people of many lands so delighted the natives that they resorted to their various musical instruments to entertain the sad, forlorn travelers. The music was so enchanting that the people took to dancing and soon forgot that they were ill treated by Dame Fortune. After a few hours all were rescued, but each guest declared herself glad to have had such an experience.

St. Patrick's Day Dance

What a hilarious time we had at the St. Patrick's Day Dance, March 23! It was a masquerade dance, the only one of the year. The costumes were very clever, and the unmasking at ten o'clock brought many surprises. There were families, couples, and old maid school-teachers. The first prize for the prettiest costume was awarded to Dorothy Langdorf; the second prize was given to Frances Feeney. The first prize for the funniest costume was awarded to Mildred Howard, and the second prize to Mary Reardon. The evening was pronounced one of the most enjoyable of the year.

Co-Ed Prom

The Co-Ed Prom was proclaimed the most successful social event of the year. Never had the parlors been so honored by such a great number of handsome couples.

From the recreation hall came strains of music furnished by the Baxter-Tonrey orchestra. Each young lady grasped the arm of her partner, and the grand march began.

Prizes were awarded during the evening. The prize for the best fox trot was given to Mary Williams and Myrtle Fuller; that for the waltz, to Lillian Ralph and Bessie Stewart. Lucy Fordyce was judged the best-looking "man," and Ruth Ogden the best-looking woman. For favors the women received miniature jumping-jacks, and the "men" enjoyed toy cigars.

Refreshing punch was served in the sun parlor between dances. A cheery blaze in the fireplace added much to the coziness of the room.

The couples assembled certainly "expressed themselves" when they stated that they had enjoyed a most successful Co-Ed Prom.

The "Go"

The first big picnic day of the year is the traditional "Go." Classes are dismissed for the day; lunch is prepared; hiking clothes are donned; for everyone is going to "Go."

Where did we "Go"? To Barratt's. How? By auto, if we were fortunate enough to catch one; by train, if we possessed the necessary forty-four cents; by hiking, always good.

September weather proved highly satisfactory, for a bright, sunny day was enjoyed. The morning was spent in exploring the cliffs around Barratt's and in taking pictures. In the afternoon some indulged in various sports, and others rested.

At one o'clock there was a grand rush for the food line. A delicious lunch of true picnic eats, prepared at the dormitory, was heaped high on each plate by Dean Smith's helpers.

All good things come to an end, as did our picnic. Yet everyone declared the "Go" a grand success, and only hoped that the one next year might be as successful.

"M" Day

Classes are dismissed for the day. Our "M" must be enlarged and whitewashed. Thus the M. S. N. C. faculty and students prepare for "M" day, the birthday of our large white "M," which is a symbol of the Montana University. Carrying the necessary materials, they start out early in the morning, and together they accomplish the work of making the "M" look newer and fresher for the ensuing year.

After the morning's exertion, all file down the hillside to partake of the lunch which Dean Smith and her helpers have prepared. Here, while eating and resting, we survey the "M" with pride.

Hallowe'en Stunt Night

The annual Hallowe'en party took place on the night of Homecoming, November 3, 1928. The stunts were put on by the College classes, the various societies, and the new faculty.

The program was as follows:

Junior Class	The Baby Show
W. A. A.	Turn-Over
K. Z. N.	The Doll Show
Y. W. C. A.	Mine, All Mine
Senior Class	Lord Ullin's Daughter
Gargoyles	Silhouette Picture
New Faculty	We Don't
Glee Club	The Graveyard

The stunts were very clever and were greatly appreciated by the audience.

After all had enjoyed more than an hour of foolishness, they went to the recreation hall for the Homecoming dance which was sponsored by the "M" Club.

Pow-Wow

The annual pow-wow, as the name suggests, is a conference between the Seniors and the Juniors. The warriors of the two tribes don their feathers and war paint in a final struggle for supremacy. The Junior chief declares war on the Senior braves, but war is averted by a truce around a campfire.

This ceremony, in true Indian fashion, signifies the transfer of power from the Senior braves to the Junior warriors. The latter promise to uphold all the traditions, customs, ideals, and the good name of the college during the coming year.

This scene is very beautiful and impressive; it is one which is long remembered, and one which lingers in the minds of M. S. N. C. students as one of the finest traditions of the school.

May Fete

The annual spring festival of 1928 seemed to be the signal calling for truly representative spring weather. A sudden storm soon after the performance was begun made it necessary for the audience and the participants in the festival to seek shelter. The ceremony was completed the following afternoon, Spring having decided to display her better phases of weather.

Under the direction of the W. A. A., Edith Tweedy of Butte was chosen May Queen, with Mary Mullins as Maid of Honor. Upon the Queen's coronation, an entertainment was presented on the campus by a group of College students and training school pupils.

The program, the theme of which was Health, consisted of three parts. First, the interpretative dancing class, under the direction of Miss Helen Mae Smith, presented several delightful sylvan dances, which were made more effective by the formal setting of the campus. Next, the Queen of Health and her helpers, represented by training school pupils, portrayed very dramatically the pleasing aspects of health and the drastic results of disobeying health. The ceremony was concluded with more interpretative dances given by the college students and training school pupils.

The College Sing

An evening of songs which has been most popular is one of the newest customs observed during Senior week. The two classes with their friends gather on the college steps for group singing. Songs of the college which bring the fondest memories of the days spent at M. S. N. C. are sung for the last time during the year.

Candle-Light Procession

Of all the traditions of our college, the candle-light procession is perhaps the most impressive. Each black-gowned Senior selects some Junior to take his place the following year. Marching side by side around the familiar campus, they sing,

"Oh college days, dear college days,
The years may come, the years may go,
But still my heart in memory clings
To college chums of long ago."

As the Juniors sing, their minds are busy with thoughts of friendships yet to be formed and deeds yet to be accomplished. To the Seniors the song brings memories of care-free days, of new-found friends whom they may never meet again, and of neglected opportunities.

The Seniors pass on to the Juniors their lighted candles as symbols of the responsibilities which the Juniors must assume.

The last notes of the song fade into silence, for the procession is over. The Seniors remain silent for a short time, grateful for the kindly darkness which hides their faces from the gaze of the spectators.

Commencement

This college is somewhat unique in that it has commencement exercises four times a year. The repetition, however, makes the ceremony no less impressive. Each time the audience is inspired by the solemnity of the occasion as it watches the processional. Each time it listens in reverence to the invocation, and is moved with emotion by the commencement address. The friends, classmates, and relatives watch with admiration while the diplomas are awarded, and then flock to the library to bestow congratulations, hand-claps, and farewells. It is these things which make commencement a ceremony never to be forgotten by any graduate.

Senior Play

Performance of this year's Senior Play was given Monday night, May 27. The play was The Sea Urchin, most recent play of John Hastings Turner. The plot of the play centers about a long-cherished quarrel between the Wynchebeks and the Trebarrows. Love of Guy Trebarrow for Fay, the young girl whom he has rescued from the sea, breaks down the barrier that has separated Sir Trevor, Guy's father, and Miss Minnie Wynchebek. Having rid themselves of the imposter Sullivan, Fay and Guy find their way clear and elope. Mary reconciles herself to the belated marriage of Minnie and Sir Trevor.

State Normal College of the University of Montana

High School graduates may well look upon teaching as a favorable field for a life career. Working conditions and salaries are improving. The demand for trained teachers has not been supplied in recent years. Sure employment in a highly respected occupation with compensation in proportion to the training is the teacher's prospect.

The State Normal College of the University of Montana offers superior facilities for professional training. Its graduates are eagerly sought. If after the completion of the two year course a graduate wishes to teach, a position is waiting. If it is desired to continue in school, full credit for Normal College work is given in the University of Montana institutions or in universities not located in this state. In the usual four years of a college course a Normal diploma and a University degree may both be secured, no loss resulting from transfer of credits.

Misleading!

Brown and Smith were telling stories about large families with whom they had come in contact. Brown happened to remark that he was a member of a big family himself.

"Indeed!" said his friend. "How many of you are there?"

"Well, there were ten of us boys," said the other, "and each of us had a sister."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Smith, "Then there were twenty of you?"

"No, only eleven," was the answer.

"Where's Bill?"

"What's that?"

"Sleeping or lounging."

Our Selling Policy Is This:

We hold no so-called sales of any kind nor do we name comparative prices of any kind. Goods are always sold at the lowest possible prices consistent with prevailing market conditions, and when the price of some article is marked down to its replacement value, the former price is never mentioned. We aim to give the same fair, square treatment to you every day.

CHRONOLOGY

"There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."—Shakespeare.

The tide of opportunity is at the flood for young men and women now starting in the business life.

Start by forming business-like habits. Intelligent saving leads to thrift and eventually leads to prosperity.

A Savings Account should be started in a bank and into it should be put a definite portion of each month's returns. It will work for you by drawing interest.

Consult your banker in regard to savings and investment. He will be pleased to advise with you.

This bank has served the public successfully for twenty-nine years. Its services are offered to you.

You may be the Lincoln Highway to your mother, but you're only a little detour to me.

We know a man so lazy that when he had the seven year itch, he got six months behind on his scratching.

College Student writes some letters to the family.

Dear Mother—I've got a dreadful headache from studying—the teachers have it in for me, I guess. About that exam you asked about, I didn't get that paper back, but I know I got an A.

Love,

(The whole letter)

Dear Dad—Thanks for the ten. I needed it to get some note books and stuff. It took all I had and I still haven't got all I need. Do you suppose you could send another one?

Affectionately,

Dear Sis: Thanks for the tie. I only wear it on special occasions as I want to keep it nice and clean. (He sold it to his room mate for 50c.) If you can find any more, I wish you would send them. They sure come in handy—. Don't tell Mother what you heard about me because it isn't so. Well, it's nine-thirty, I guess I'll go to bed. Have you got an extra dollar or two? I met the nicest girl and I asked her for a date. Write soon.

Brother Sap: Hawaii? Say, don't try to tell me about dates. I've had all kinds of them. Over there you don't know what a good time is. You just kid yourself. Come on over here and I'll show you the time of your life—. Can you spare a ten? I haven't heard from home for so long I think they took the post office out. The last date I had took every shekel I could scrape up—. Say, don't tell me about your grades. I can guess what they are—. Well, I'm going to quit. Don't forget the ten. (A five will be better than nothing.) So long. And he went to bed.

She: What do you consider the height of extravagance?

He: Well, let's see; you're five feet eight inches, I should judge.

Becky: Did you take your degree in medicine?

Ikey: No, in Minnyapolis.

"Why do you refuse to loan the book to Mrs. Cooper?"

"I heard you say that her husband is a bookkeeper."

"What is the term applied to people who sign other people's names on checks?"

"Five or ten years, usually."

"Spring is the time for love."

"Well, it's not so bad during other seasons, either."

Mary had a little lamb;
A lobster and some prunes,
A glass of milk, a piece of pie,
And then some macaroons.

It made the naughty waiter grin
To see her order so.
And when they carried Mary out
Her face was white as snow.

Morris Cole: Do you know where I can find out about "The Charge of the Light Brigade?"

Chuck Davis: Go over to the Dorm at six o'clock.

Mr. Mackie: She did that wonderfully well. You know, I never could talk that fast.

Miss McGrade: Well, she had something to talk about or she never could have talked that fast.

As Vi von der Vor said to Dulany Terrett when he parted his hair on the side: "Well, there has to be an alley for every block."

Miss Gregory (at conference): You know, this "apperceptive basis" has become a joke. No one seems to know just what it is. In fact, I heard a student say the other day, "Gosh, I slipped on the ice this morning and hurt my apperceptive basis."

Miss—Hiss—Kiss!

School Inspector to Pretty Teacher:
"Do you teach observation?"

"Yes."

"Then I will take the class. Now, children, shut your eyes and sit still."

Following this the inspector made a slow whistling sort of noise and followed with, "Now, children, what did I do?"

For some time there was no answer but ultimately one little boy piped out, "You kissed teacher."

Laugh and the world laughs with you. Cry and you streak your paint.

A nice "prof" is one who wakes you at the end of his class so you won't be late to your next one.

The motion has been made and seconded that whenever a "prof" attempts to crack a joke he be required to raise his right hand. This is in order that we won't laugh out of turn.

A boy of twelve, dining at his uncle's, made such a good dinner that his aunt observed:

"Johnny, you appear to eat well."

"Yes, aunty," replied the boy, "I've been practicing all my life."

Poise is that quality in a woman that keeps her from being embarrassed on a windy day.

Husband: "Have you made up your mind to stay in?"

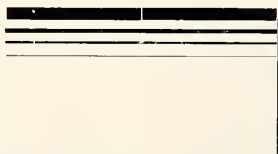

Wife: "No, I've made up my face to go out."

Coed: An owl's a funny looking thing, ain't it?

Student: Yeah, they look so human.
